

Mindset of world towards India has changed now: ITR director BK Das

By Hemanta Pradhan

“Mindset of the world towards India has been changed now. Our country has become a superpower in technology and software,” said Binoy Kumar Das, director of Integrated Test Range, (Chandipur), while delivering a lecture on ‘Technology- India’s new face for the world’ organised by Nalco here on Friday.

He said no country can match the success of the Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO). “The world got surprised after ISRO launched several satellites in a single launch vehicle. We are the only country on the earth to get success in first attempt in sending a spacecraft to Mars. We have several successes in our kitty,” he added. Das said the Defence Research and Development Organisation (DRDO) has created wonder by making indigenous devastating missiles. “It has also made jackets, food items, shoes and other items for defense personnel other than weapon. DRDO makes things starting from hydroponic tomatoes to devastating missiles,” he added

He further said India has changed the face of the nation by using technology. “We have done progress in agriculture through green revolution. We have created supercomputer and other best technology. We became world leaders in software. Our lads have become the CEOs of the top software companies,” he added.
